SOME STRAY SHEAVES FROM THE WEEK'S HARVEST OF NEWS.

Gathered by a Journalistic gleaner.—A Springfield Turn Verein.—Why Forker Will Pull Through This Time.—A Springfield Hero.—The Great Cold Water Convention.

A Prohibitionist said the other day: "The public don't seem to have an idea of the magnitude of the approaching Prohibition Convention. We expect 3,000 people here in all, including the delegates. The hotel keepers are making arrangements for another terrific rush. The wigwag, in its new quarters, will be handsomely decorated, and the most complete arrangements for the press, etc., will be made."

Those who have taken in the Equine Paradox at Black's the past week, now understand what is meant by the phrase "bo-se sense."

Squire Frank Rightmeyer says that the Republican ticket is sure to win this time, that, whereas, we only had "Forker in the last campaign, we now have the whole of Kansas to back it." Frank should be furnished with a round trip ticket to Congress for that pun.

Whenever a Springfield type sees a word commencing "Co," he proudly sets it up "Convention" no matter what the word is.

Mr. O. H. Whitmore, the champion amateur fancy bicycle rider of the country, and the equal of Canada, the champion professional rider will attend the bicycle meet in this city. Whitmore does facts which appear incredible, until they are actually accomplished before the eyes of every one. In the parade he removes the small wheel from his bicycle, and presents the singular spectacle of a man smiling along, mounted on top of a big wheel. In his exhibitions he not only removes the small wheel, but the backbone and forks as well, leaving only the large wheel and the cranks. This he mounts, and by his wonderful sense of balance, makes good speed on the one wheel. He also performs the wonderful feat of jumping over a six-inch soap box, with the single wheel, without falling. His feats of vaulting in the saddle, riding standing up, various forms of mounting, etc., are said to be marvelous.

A musical enthusiast of this city made the following remarkable speech after listening to the wonderful violin playing of Sig. Figueroa, the violin virtuoso, who appeared with the Mexican orchestra: "Was it not something more than natural that we should be listening to this low-born Greaser, snatched from the slums of Mexico, by the genius of art, drawing the tail of a horse over the intestines of a sheep, dried and twisted into strings, and that our souls were filled with immortal beauty, and it seemed as if we could almost hear the angels of heaven rejoicing in his violin?"

Several pamphlets, entitled "How to make your own dynamite," have been sent to parties in this city in the past few days. This will prove a sweet boon to poor families who have been obliged to struggle along with cheap grocery dynamite.

Thousands will thank Capt. Bunnell in husky tones, as they take up the cup to quench their thirst at the really handsome drinking fountain, erected on High street, by his munificence.

It is said that a number of the young misses who took part in the Nalad Queen recently, are badly stage struck, and would jump at the shadow of a chance to join some theatrical combination. The excitement was quite a strain on some of the smaller children also. No evil results have followed however, so far as known. In Dayton a little girl who appeared in the "Queen" became so excited, that she became ill over her loss of health and finally died. A number of Springfield children of nervous, excitable temperament were wisely taken out by their parents before the performances began. When Prof. McKnight notices a child of this disposition in the rehearsal he very properly informs the parents of the child, and it is not allowed to take part.

The local political situation is commencing to warm up, and the candidates to bestir themselves. The Senatorial caucus next Monday evening have already been noticed. Since the death of Judge Little there has been considerable talk about the next Representative. The county wants to put one of its men in, and is clamoring for the Representative. Seymour Harold, of South Charleston, is talked of, and ex-Mayor Elijah Coffin, of German township, "boots up serenely" as the granger's candidate. The colored people think they are entitled to a candidate and talk of W. S. Newberry, Graham Deuell or Jas. Buford. There has never been a colored representative from Clark county, although Jas. Piles was a candidate before one convention. There is likely to be a lively little breeze over the Prosecuting Attorneyship. Several of the younger members of the bar are talked of in this connection, notably Wm. M. Rockel and J. Guilford White. It is probable that the names of both these gentlemen will be put before the convention. For Coroner J. Lamar Coleman and J. M. Bennett will be candidates. Several doctors are also reported to have their heads together for the office. If a physician is chosen this time for the office, there will be a lively contest for it between the Eclectics and Homeopaths. Everything points to one of the most lively conventions for years.

"Some people say drummers haven't got any heart," said Dave Wilborn, the head runner of the Lagoona House, while attending one of the trains yesterday, and pointing to a handsome diamond pin which sparkled on his shirt bosom, "you see that pin? Well, that was presented to me by a drummer for saving his life. He was standing on the track, and failed to see an approaching train. I jumped and pulled him off the track just in time. He thanked me profusely, and I not long afterwards got this diamond pin by mail from him at Chicago, where he lived. His name was Isaacson and he was connected with a prominent Hebrew firm in Chicago. I got many complimentary notices from the papers, and I can assure you I prize the pin very highly."

It was a subject of general remark on the streets last Wednesday, during the butchers' parade, that not one single doctor had the bravery to turn out with the Association.

Bartholdi Statue.

New York Letter to The Globe-Republic:

New York, June 18, 1885.

There was a picture at the Cincinnati Exposition some years ago, representing the fleet of the world doing homage to an ideal statue of Liberty rising from the ocean. This was of mammoth size, and the painter treated his subject in heroic style. The scene was realized today in the great reception given to the Bartholdi Statue in New York Harbor.

The weather was perfect, and New York treated it as a gala occasion, and as the grand historical occasion which it was. Excursion boats loaded to the guards with sight-seers, and with the people packed in between the docks, a eardrum every hour to follow up the reception fleet, and witness the ceremonies of receiving the statue. The scene in New York harbor has probably never been equaled. I write this on the deck of the Bay Queen, and as I write the United States ship, Omaha, is belching out a thundering salute in honor of the great occasion. Looking to the shores, immense crowds pack every available place for sight seeing. The great Cotton Exchange and Field's Building are each topped with several thousand persons, the Battery Park is filled with tens of thousands, every window is filled, and it seems as if all New York has come out to do honor to the grand gift of France.

The great New York harbor presents an unbroken grandeur. Hundreds of crafts of every conceivable size, shape and nationality, float on its broad bosom, from several portable tubs, belonging to the U. S. Navy, to solitary skiffs. Not a vessel is without its flag or colors and the greater ships are fairly wreathed and festooned with the colors of all nations, and with the colors of France blended with those of America. The great New York yacht clubs are out with their trim, beautifully built vessels, with flowing sails, to swell the procession of Liberty.

This morning was consummated with the naval parade and inspection of the pedestal by the French Admiral and naval officers, and the French Committee in charge of the statue.

In the afternoon a grand parade took place on Broadway, followed by a banquet at the City Hall. The scene in the harbor this morning will forever live in the minds of those who witnessed it, as a grand picture of naval pomp and as a gorgeous panorama of light and color. The crowds who witnessed it suffered much discomfort from the severe heat, both on the boats and on shore, and heat strokes were reported. Some very queer reports were also among the crowd in regard to the reception of the statue. A number of persons imagined that it had been brought over erect on the deck of the ship, and ready to be hoisted into place on its pedestal. They were much disappointed at not seeing it on the deck of the ship, and learning that it was packed away in sections in the caissons.

New Yorkers seem to be the greatest grumblers in the world. Unless they can sniff out salt breeze the entire year they complain heartily, and at the least approach of comfortably warm weather, rush frantically for the summer resorts.

Recent newspaper reports represent the genuine "dude" as dying out in New York society. Don't believe a word of it. There are swarms of them on Fifth avenue—real, genuine "dude" look, patent leather shoes, who say "Wah, wah, deah boy," and every occasion. I have been much tempted to ask a number of them how they manage to keep out of the dime museums as curiosities. Nothing in the shape of amusement is going on except "Oh chancery," with John T. Raymond in the star role. John Gray is here playing some of her old time plays, in which she originally appeared before Cleopatra, and an audience of Egyptian mummies, when the latter were gay and giddy members. Her play, "Adelphi and the penitentiary." All New York is applauding the verdict, but it could not have been anything else. The entire press and people of the city united in bringing a terrific pressure to bear on the jury to make an example of Badenoch for the Metropolis. The owner of the "skin contractors" for all time, have on the "skin contractors" for all time.

The bunks are numerous and aggressive. By the way, did the Globe-Republic readers ever hear how a prominent citizen of Springfield shook a couple of bunks in New York? The approach him and glibly asked him if his "name was not."

"No, sir," said he; "my name is Pinkerton, of Chicago." The bunks immediately lost all interest in him.

Pulitzer, the well known editor who came to New York from the North and South, and started in to show New York how to run a newspaper is meeting with immense success. He has boomed his way to great public popularity on the shoulders of the Bartholdi statue. He commenced a subscription to the pedestal fund and by today it reached $74,000, with only $75,000 required. Pulitzer took John Cockeril, formerly managing editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer with him to New York and the two have made the World the sensation paper of the Metropolis. The owner stands at nothing in expense. For instance, last winter the editor happened to hear of the singular case of the young Irish girl in Springfield, U., who claimed to have had her cut out on the streets in open daylight, and whose throat was cut by a man who was World immediately telegraphed to Springfield for a full telegraphic account of the affair. The one article cost them over $15 before it appeared in the paper, and only consumed one-third of a column. Such enterprise costs money. Tomorrow I expect to hunt up a number of Springfielders who are now making their homes in New York and reserve another letter for next Sunday.

Mr. A. R. Ludlow complained to the police yesterday morning that during Friday night a valuable lot of flowers were stolen from his residence, on West Mulberry street. He offers $5 reward for their return.

Precinct A, Eighth Ward, Republicans will meet at the West County Building at 8 o'clock Monday evening, to select three delegates to the State Senatorial convention.

Ninth Ward Republicans will meet at the Lumber Yard office on West Columbia street, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, to elect delegates to the Senatorial Convention.

Colonel Dotze was warmly commended by the mayor and chief of police yesterday morning for the improvements he has been making about the station house.

Miss Belle Painter, sister of Mrs. B. H. Whitely, and Miss Agnes Bruck, of Mechanicburg, Pa., are the guests of Mrs. Whitely, of West High street.

THE BELLEFONTAINE JUBILEE.

Meeting of Citizens at the Mayor's Office.

Last Night—Arrangements Made to Attend the Reception—Excursion Rates.

Members of the Plug Hat Brigade and other enthusiastic Republicans met at the Mayor's office last evening to see what could be done about attending the Kennedy reception at Bellefontaine next Tuesday evening. Mayor Goodwin was elected to the chair and Mr. Pearl Cartmell made secretary. The expression of opinion expressed by those who spoke was in favor of sending the brigade and as large a number of citizens as possible to the jubilee at Bellefontaine. Mr. Cartmell stated that the I. B. & W. had agreed to sell round-trip tickets for 75c. provided 200 tickets could be sold. On motion of R. F. Hayward, the meeting decided to attend the reception and appointed a committee of twenty, each of whom is expected to sell ten tickets. The committee is as follows: A. J. Baker, James Foley, P. M. Cartmell, Amos Whiteley, Col. White, R. F. Hayward, W. T. Stillwell, J. C. Dicus, J. W. Parsons, J. W. C. Cline, Wesley McDonald, James P. Goodwin, J. H. Rabbits, James B. Chapman, Dr. Urison, T. J. Jewett, Charles Crocker, W. F. Bevis, H. S. Hulcomb, Captain Geo. Sinto, E. T. Ridenour, A. S. Bushnell, and J. L. Miles. Captain Bushnell was appointed to invite Judge Forker and party to attend the Reception as guests of the Springfield delegation. W. T. Stillwell was appointed a committee one to arrange with the I. B. & W. for a train, leaving about 6 o'clock p. m., and concerning the distribution of tickets among the selling committee. R. F. Hayward was appointed to engage the Big Six Band for the occasion. Amos Whiteley was appointed a committee to try to procure one gun and the necessary force from the Fifth Battery to accompany the party. A Finance Committee of six was appointed to secure the necessary funds for contingent purposes. A motion was passed requesting every one to wear the regulation plug hat and cane. All members of the Ticket Committee are requested to meet W. T. Stillwell, at 1 p. m., on Monday, at the Lagoona House, to receive their tickets. The meeting was very enthusiastic throughout, and the prospects are that Springfield will make an excellent showing at the ratification of the ticket.

The following is the programme of the Salvation Army tomorrow: 7 o'clock a. m.—Helioch breakfast at hall; 10 a. m.—Open air meeting on Market Square; 11 a. m.—Consecration meeting at hall; 2:15 p. m.—Open air meeting on Market Square; 3 p. m.—Salvation meeting at hall on West Main street.

There will be a meeting of the Republicans of the Seventh Ward, Monday evening, June 22, at 7 o'clock p. m., at the Southern Engine house, to select four delegates to attend the Senatorial Convention.

A Kind and Generous Deed.—Rev. A. Barber, superintendent of St. Louis Conf. M. E. Church, writes from Moran Kansas: "This recommendation is written without solicitation from anyone; but I owe it to those similarly afflicted to say that by the use of Shaker's Extract of Roots (Siegel's Syrup) I was cured of an obstinate and almost fatal indigestion—both stomach and liver being completely torpid. I was reduced to a living skeleton. Friends, family and physician had given me up. I was keeping the spark of life alive with a diet of raw eggs and milk. Now both stomach and liver are performing their functions. I have many friends in Western Ohio, N. E. Iowa and S. W. Mo. who would like to know this."

The Honest Shaker, although he does not boast of his purity, always makes goods that can be relied upon; for instance his Shaker Extract of Roots (Siegel's Syrup) is really a valuable article. It is not recommended as a cure-all, but as a remedy for one single disease, viz. indigestion, in which disease it works like a charm. The Shaker Tar Capsules cure Coughs.

MEDICAL.

CANCER OF TONGUE!

A Case Resembling That of General Grant

Some ten years ago I had a scrofulous sore on my right hand which gave me great trouble, and under the old-time treatment was healed up, and I supposed I was well. However, it had only been driven into the system by the use of iodine and mercury, and in March, 1882, it broke out in my throat, and concentrated in what some of the doctors designated cancer. I was placed under treatment for this disease. Some six or seven of the best physicians in the country had used at different times under their charge, among them three specialists in this line, one after another would exhaust their skill and drop me, for I grew worse continually. The cancer had eaten through my cheek destroying the palate and under lip entirely and half my tongue, eating out to the top of my left cheek bone and up to the left eye. From a hearty robust woman of 150 pounds, I was reduced to a mere frame of skin and bones, almost unable to turn myself in bed. I could not eat any solid food, but subsisted on liquids and soups, and was so far gone I could not talk. The anguish of mind and the horrible sufferings of body which I experienced, can never be revealed except by physicians, and I have no words of recovery upon the part of friends who sat around my bedside, expecting every moment to see me last. In fact, my husband would place his hand upon me every day and then to see whether I was alive or not, and at one time all decided that life was extinct, and my death was reported all over the country.

Such was my condition, and my helpless condition the last of last October (1884), when my friends connected giving me Swift's Specific. In less than a week the eating process stopped and during the next week the cancer began to shrink and was completely healed. A process of a new under lip is progressing finely, and the tongue which was almost destroyed, is being recovered, and it seems that nature is supplying a new tongue. I can talk so that my friends can readily understand me, and can eat solid food. I am able to walk about where ever I please without the assistance of anyone, and have gained fifty pounds, or to say other persons under the blessing of a merciful Heavenly Father, is due to Swift's Specific. I am a wonder and a marvel to all my friends, hundreds of whom have known my intense suffering, and have visited me in my affliction. I am now well, yet my gratitude is none the less devoted, and I am confident that a perfect recovery is now in my hand. I have written this to let others know that Hon. John H. Taylor, State Senator of this district, who is my neighbor, Dr. T. S. Read, of La Grange, or to any other persons living in the southern part of Troup county, Ga., who have been afflicted with this terrible disease.

Gentlemen—For years I have at times been troubled from torpid liver, and also, more or less, from kidney affection. Some time ago, when in the condition above mentioned, I procured a bottle of your Calculi Resolvent, and at the time my urine was dark, and I had a great deal of pain in the night, and somewhat the appearance of gravel. I took a few doses, and the next morning my liver seemed to act like a new one, and the urine cleared up, the offensive smell left it, and now no deposit is found when it stands a few hours. I give this statement unasked, and it worth anything in calling the attention of those similarly afflicted, to you, may use it as you like. Yours truly,
